

I am sending this in response to BPL or broadband over power line. As an amateur radio operator it could be devastating. I already fight with noise on a daily basis from power lines and many other sources. With this in mind I cannot imagine how the FCC could consider such a thing when they already have trouble with power companies and interference. They will never be able to control this as they are not able to control the current problems with interference. I ask that you do not allow BPL in any way.

Thank you,

Tom Jones
